panied by Miss Elizabeth Boase. This service, at 11 East Franklin Street, is open to all the women of the city. At the Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Burton Gay, with their children, Louise and Burton Gay, Jr., of Cleveland, O., are visiting Mrs. Gay's mother, Mrs. George Mayo, at the Hanover Apartments, 100 West Franklin Street. Mrs. Gay was formerly Miss Louise Mayo, of this city, and it is pleasing to her friends here to know that she expects to remain two months in Richmond.

In and Out of Town. Miss Fanny Beverly, of "Blandfield," in Essex, who has been the guest of Mrs. Nash, on East Franklin Street, has returned to her home.

Guy Blinford has returned to the city after a business trip to Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Learoyd Adamson and family, formerly of Bon Air, have taken apartments at the Chesterfield, where they will be for the future winter.

Miss Dollie Robertson, who has been spending two weeks in Newport News as the guest of Miss Harriet Thomas, has returned to the city, accompanied by Miss Thomas, who will be her guest this week.

Mrs. William A. Talbot, of Waynesboro, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. R. Latimer Gordon, on West Avenue.

Mrs. William Law Clay and her children, of Savannah, Ga., are visiting Mrs. Hunter McGuire, 513 East Grace Street.

Colonel S. L. Adams, of South Boston, is in Richmond to attend the State Sunday-School Association.

Mrs. E. A. Saunders, Jr., and daughter, Miss Mary Saunders, have returned from a visit to Charlottesville. Miss Saunders is one of the most attractive debutantes of the coming season.

Mrs. J. Haskins Hobson, of Mt. Airy, Va., spent several days last week with her son, Haskins Hobson, at Forest Hill.

A. F. Robertson and son, Archie G. Robertson, of Staunton, left last week for Colorado, where the latter will be permanently located.

Mr. and Mrs. George Poe are guests at the Burton, in Danville.

Misses Eloise and Elizabeth Johnston, of 110 East Franklin, are in New York. The latter will take a course in illustrative art in New York this winter.

Miss Annie Hodges, of Portsmouth, is spending some time with Miss Nellie Taylor, in this city.

Virginia Hot Springs Social News.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] VIRGINIA HOT SPRINGS, Va., October 8.—The past week has seen the arrival of many prominent society people from New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburgh and Richmond, and the already large cottage colony has been augmented.

Mrs. Barton French, who returned to Barton Lodge during the week, is busy completing the arrangements for the appearance in the Homestead ballroom of Miss Betty Booker, of Richmond, in a song cycle and recital, the proceeds of which will go for the work among the poor mountaineers of the State, being carried on by the Episcopal Church, under the direction of Archbishop Frederick W. Neve, of Baltimore, who is spending two weeks here, taking charge of the services of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, during the absence of the rector, John G. Scott, in New York.

Dr. John Herndon French is a house guest at Barton Lodge, as is also Miss Nancy Perkins, the daughter of Mrs. Moncure Perkins, of Albemarle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burton were joined by Miss Florence Burton at their cottage on Wednesday.

William L. Skidmore and Miss Mary Nash Skidmore are among others occupying hotel cottages, and will remain for the deer hunting season.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrison Carnegie, Jr., of Pittsburgh and New York, who have the Upland House on the Warm Springs Mountain, arrived on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dumont Foote and the Misses Alice and Marianna Foote, have arrived from Morristown and are at Ben Venue until December.

In the long list of arrivals at the Homestead during the week there have been many notable. On Monday morning the Duchesse de Chaulnas arrived in a private car with her young son and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Shogts, and Miss Margaret Shogts.

Admiral Charles Beresford, of London, who arrived on Wednesday morning on the Western train, was met at the station by his host, Colonel Robert M. Thompson. Lord Charles Beresford was the guest of honor at a tea given on the lawn during the afternoon at the Casino on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. William Allen. Among those invited to meet the admiral were Colonel and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Pail, Madames Pembroke Jones, Henry Alexander, Alexander Brown, H. C. Worthington, John H. Rodgers, W. C. Cotton and David Dunlop, the Misses Sadie Jones and Elizabeth Latimer and William Eldridge.

One of the largest and most fashionable throngs of the season congregated in the big open field beyond Passifern Farm on Thursday afternoon to see the finish of the first drag hunt of the season, when the seventeen riders who participated, made one of the prettiest finishes ever made here. It was a neck and neck race over the six hurdles between Miss Gladys Ingalls and William H. Nelson Voss, the master of the hounds, and it was a splendid tribute to Miss Ingalls' horsemanship that she won the brush. Lawrence A. Briggs and John Hamilton, of Lexington, were whips, while among the riders was Miss Mary Carlisle, of Washington.

There were numerous luncheons and teas before and after the hunt at the old Colonial farm house which was built by Colonel Cameron in 1721.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. N. Voss entertained one of the largest companies, while others who gave luncheons were Miss Rutherford, Mrs. David Dunlop, Mrs. William Allen, Thomas O'Brien and W. F. Kenney, who gave a stag luncheon and after the hunt entertained a mint-julep party.

Mrs. Henry M. Alexander gave a moonlight coaching party on Friday evening, and entertained her guests at dinner at Passifern Farm. Among the guests were Mrs. Albert Lambert, the Misses Gladys Ingalls, Able Ingalls, Barnard, Marion Leake and Elizabeth Latimer, and Sumner Gerard, H. E. Cooper, W. F. Eldridge, Frederick W. Haskewinkel, W. Edmund Cross and Scott McCallan.

Mrs. David Dunlop was a luncheon hostess at the old Colonial Hotel at the Healing Springs on Sunday afternoon for a hockey-board party in compliment to Mrs. William Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Grant entertained a large luncheon company at Passifern Farm on Sunday afternoon in compliment to the Misses Grant, who went over on horseback.

Mrs. Henry Siegel gave a dinner in the tea parlor of the Japanese room on Sunday evening for her daughter, Miss Dorothy Wilde, who is one of the most attractive girls in the younger set here.

Lynchburg Social News

Raleigh Social News.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., October 8.—The first meeting of the season by the Woman's Club, of Raleigh, was held Thursday afternoon, being devoted to business pertaining to the work ahead of the club during the coming winter. Every officer and a very large per cent. of the 290 and more members assembled for the meeting. The officers are: President, Mrs. Palmer Jerman; Vice-President, Mrs. E. B. Moffitt; Recording Secretary, Mrs. R. B. John; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. M. Rosenblatt; Treasurer, Miss Annie Hill; Auditor, Mrs. A. J. Field. A handsomely printed year-book promises a season of unusual activities and pleasure for the women of the club, the program outlined extending through June. The departments are art, child study, household economy, literature, music and social and civic service.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the Colonial Dames, of Raleigh, held last week at the home of Mrs. A. B. Andrews, chairman of the Wake county committee of the North Carolina society, it was determined that special effort is to be exerted during the coming season for still further restoring the old house in which President Andrew Johnson was born. This was moved out to Pullen Park through the efforts of the society two years ago, and the purpose now is to construct some appropriate enclosure, put the house in better repair and furnish it in Colonial style. The desire is to put some one in charge who will have the place open for visitors on certain days.

The Johnson-Pettigrew Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, will be represented in Winston-Salem for the convention that convenes there October 12, by Mrs. E. E. Moffitt, Mrs. Helen Willis, Mrs. Leo D.

THE PIANO PROBLEM

Arises in nearly every household at some time. Perhaps your wife or boy or talented daughter wants it. It's the natural artistic craving for music which no husband or parent should fail to gratify.

There are two reasons why you have delayed your purchase. First, inability to decide where to get the most "piano value" for your money. Secondly, the ways and means.

As to the first: In every field of business there is always one concern by which the rest are measured—in the Southern musical field that one is

The Crafts Piano Co.

Ask any artist where the largest and most expensive display of the world's best Pianos is to be found.

Ask many of the leading families, foremost schools and educational institutions or prominent musicians where they secured their instrument. Ask any one who has the slightest knowledge of pianos and their real value where you can secure the greatest intrinsic Piano value for every dollar invested—and the answer to each question will be the same—
